1. Purpose of Share Acquisition

In the EC industry in recent years, sales channels are diversifying by the spread of smartphones and the use of SNS. Furthermore, the competition in the market is intensifying because of the increasing in logistics costs due to the shortage of delivery personnel, and the entry into the home delivery service business of major retailers. On the other hand, as a result of the diversification of human resources, demand for meal kits, which allow people to enjoy handmade meals without having to take time, is growing dramatically. The global meal kit market is expected to reach nearly $9 billion by 2025, and similar market growth is expected to continue in Japan.

Against this backdrop, in February 2018, we made Radishboya Co., Ltd., a member-based food delivery company with a history of approximately 30 years, a subsidiary. In October 2018, we merged the two companies to maximize their synergies. In the domestic food e-commerce market, we worked to establish the uniqueness and competitive advantage of the three brands, including Oisix, Daichi Wo Mamoru Kai, and Radishboya.

As a result, for the fiscal year ending March 31, 2019, we forecast net sales of 64.0 billion yen and operating income of 2.2 billion yen, which is significantly higher than the previous fiscal year's net sales of 40.0 billion yen and operating income of 0.9 billion yen.

Purple Carrot founded in 2014, operates meal kit business for 100% plant-based foods. It delivers plant-based meal kits every week to 48 U.S. states and provides healthy eating habits to customers.

Under such circumstances, we have held consultations with Purple Carrot regarding initiatives aimed at expanding the businesses of both companies since the second half of 2018. The two companies' business philosophy, which provides customers with deliciousness and a healthy eating table through food, and in itself leads to social sustainability, has much in common. In addition, we concluded that the business models of both companies are very similar and that it is easy to generate synergy, and we acquired the shares of Purple Carrot and decided to expand our business in the United States.

As a result of these developments, in addition to the development of business models in Asian countries based on Oisix brands, Purple Carrot's business development in the U.S. has also been added to our overseas business.

This global expansion of the health-conscious food category of plant-based and Japanese food is the first in the world to take place in Asia and the United States.
