Tokyo Harvest 2019

Marking its seventh anniversary this year, Tokyo Harvest 2019 will has been scheduled for September.

A two day opportunity to experience the "great taste" of products from a multitude of Japanese regions and the "awesomeness" of the producers that produce them.

Tokyo Harvest, one of Japan's top harvest festivals, expressed gratitude and respect for those who produce our food: farmers, fisher people, and ranchers.

Tokyo Harvest is an enjoyable opportunity to rediscover the culture, traditions, and history of each region and to community information on delicious Japanese fare from Tokyo to the nation and to the world.

Sustainable "Doyo no Ushinohi" (Dog days of Summer)

Under the concept of a sustainable "dog days of summer," we have set-up a special site to convey the roots of "Doyo no ushi no hi" beginning with a proposal for proper consumption of eels which are now endangered.

♦Proposal on how to eat eel

"U Bowl" that can be enjoyed with a small amount of eel

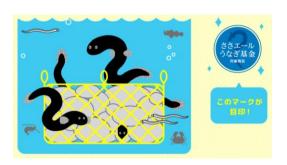

◆"Sasaeel Unagi Fund"

Aiming to safeguard/bring back eel resources, ¥50 of the purchase price of certain products goes to the fund.

Proceeds are used to establish "stone cages" for the release of eels & to provide them with shelter.

Main Business Risks

■ Effects of poor weather

Fresh produce accounts for about 30 % of Group sales. We deploy a structure for fresh produce that makes it possible to secure supplies from other regions if poor weather in specific regions prevents harvests or results in poor quality. The system distributes transactions and in principle allows procurement of key products from multiple producer regions. Nevertheless, poor weather lasting longer and having more broad-ranging effects than expected may lead to product shortages and quality issues, with potential consequences for Group businesses and business results.

Effects of concentration of logistics centers

We operate our own logistics centers, where logistics functions such as inspection, storage, sorting, and packing of our products are concentrated. For the most part, products under the Oisix brand are shipped to customers through our logistics center located in the city of Ebina, Kanagawa Prefecture. Those under the DWMK brand are shipped through a center located in the city of Narashino, Chiba Prefecture. If a natural disaster, fire, or other cause were render either or both logistics centers unable to operate, potential consequences include inventory losses, shipping delay, and temporary suspension of services, which in turn would affect Group businesses and business results.

■ Issues related to food safety

We have established proprietary standards for the products handled for all our major brands. Whenever possible, we seek to offer produce grown without pesticides or chemical fertilizers. Our processed food products are made using the fewest possible additives. We have also established unique inspection systems for produce (including inspections of production sites and testing for residual pesticides) and processed food products (including use of third-party experts and independent institutions). We also strive to secure appropriate quality and safety that can be objectively demonstrated and evaluated through health and safety management guidance provided to suppliers and other means. Nevertheless, it remains possible that those who produce the products we offer may provide misleading or fraudulent labels regarding use of pesticides and similar matters or provide false quality information. Such cases could well lead to rebuke or penalties from regulators, customer complaints, and compensation for damages, in turn damaging the image of the Group's brands or leading to a loss of confidence in the Group and potentially affecting Group businesses and business results.

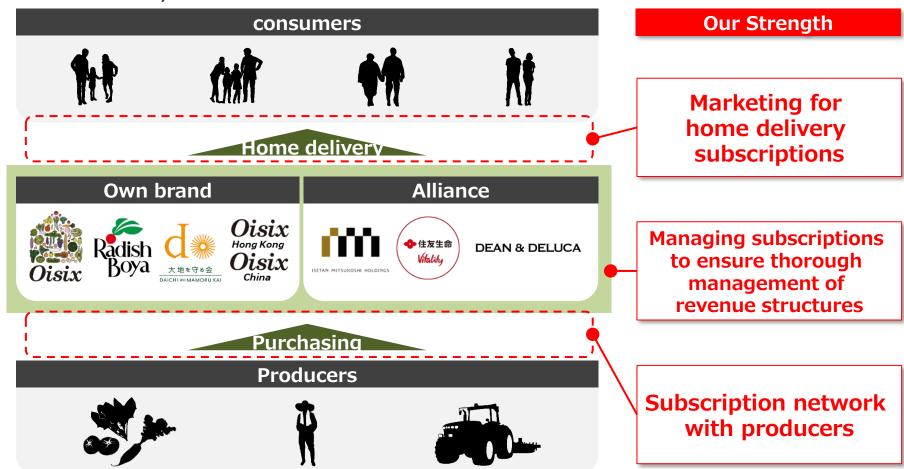

■ Effects of relationship with Yamato Transport Co., Ltd.

Most deliveries of the Group's products to subscribers are handled by Yamato Transport. While the Group strives to maintain a favorable ties to Yamato while building relationships with alternative delivery services, due to current conditions in the logistics business, if the Yamato Group were to demand a major increase in delivery fees or if transaction volumes between us were to shrink, the resulting changes may affect Group businesses and business results.
